

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT TACOMA

DONALD E. MORISKY,

Plaintiff,

v.

MMAS RESEARCH LLC, et al.,

Defendant.

CASE NO. 2:21-CV-1301-RSM-DWC

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

Noting Date: September 4, 2024

Currently before the Court is Plaintiff Donald E. Morisky's Renewed Motion for Sanctions. Dkt. 233. After consideration of the relevant record, the Court recommends Plaintiff's Renewed Motion for Sanctions (Dkt. 233) be granted-in-part as follows: The Court recommends Defendants' counterclaims be dismissed and Defendants be limited in their defenses at trial; the destroyed license agreements be presumed to be unfavorable to Defendants and an adverse jury instruction be provided to the jury that the destroyed agreements were unfavorable to Defendants; this case proceed immediately to trial with no additional discovery or dispositive motions practice; and adverse jury instructions be provided as needed based on Defendants' failure to produce discovery.

I. Background

The factual background in this case has been detailed in previous orders. See e.g., Dkts. 47, 48, 84. The Court, therefore, sets forth only the procedural background and evidence relevant to the instant motion.

On January 11, 2023, the Court stayed this matter pending a Ninth Circuit decision in a separate case. Dkt. 220. The parties notified the Court that the Ninth Circuit had issued its decision and, on April 24, 2024, the Court lifted the stay for the limited purpose of allowing Plaintiff to file a renewed motion for sanctions. Dkt. 229. On May 16, 2024, Plaintiff filed the Renewed Motion for Sanctions that is currently pending. Dkts. 233, 234 (supporting evidence). Defendants filed their Response and, on June 6, 2024, Plaintiff filed a Reply. Dkts. 238, 239-41 (supporting evidence), 242, 243 (supporting evidence).

On July 3, 2024, the Court directed Plaintiff to review the evidence that has been obtained in this case and provide the Court with a detailed list of items Plaintiff contends Defendants have failed to produce and Plaintiff has been unable to obtain through other sources. Dkt. 246. Plaintiff provided a response to the Court's Order on July 16, 2024. Dkts. 247, 248. The Court directed Defendants to file a response to Plaintiff's response. Dkt. 250. Defendants filed a response on August 6, 2024. Dkts. 253, 254.

II. Oral Argument

The parties requested oral argument. See Dkt. 233. The district court has discretion, but is not required, to hold an evidentiary hearing prior to imposing sanctions. See Wyle v. R.J. Reynolds Indus., Inc., 709 F.2d 585, 592 (9th Cir. 1983) ("When necessary, the district court may hold an evidentiary hearing on a motion for sanctions."). A sanctioned party's due process rights are fully satisfied through "[t]he opportunity to brief the [sanctions] issue." Pac. Harbor

1 Capital, Inc. v. Carnival Air Lines, Inc., 210 F.3d 1112, 1118 (9th Cir. 2000) (internal citation 2 omitted). Here, the parties have had a full opportunity to brief the sanctions issue. The Court has 3 considered the relevant record and finds oral argument is not necessary; this matter can be 4 decided on the briefing alone.

5 III. Discussion

6 In the Renewed Motion for Sanctions, Plaintiff requests case dispositive sanctions based 7 on Defendants' failure to engage in discovery, failure to comply with Court orders, spoliation of 8 evidence, and failure to pay the monetary sanctions imposed by this Court. Dkt. 233. Defendants 9 assert case dispositive sanctions are not warranted and request this Court fully lift the stay, 10 reopen the discovery period, and set a new scheduling order. Dkt. 238; see also Dkt. 253.

11 A. Evidence

12 i. Discovery process

13 On November 14, 2022, Plaintiff served his First Set of Requests for Production of 14 Documents on Defendants Steven Trubow, MMAS Research LLC, MMAS Research Italy SRL, 15 and MMAS Research France SAS. Dkt. 102. Defendants MMAS Research LLC, MMAS 16 Research Italy SRL, and MMAS Research France SAS provided written objections and 17 responses on December 12, 2022, along with 130 pages of documents, 102 of which had been 18 obscured with diagonal black bars. Id.; Dkt. 102-2.¹ Plaintiff filed a motion to compel 19 contending Defendants' objections failed to comply with the requirements of Rule 34(b)(2). Dkt.
20

22 ¹ The record reflects the First Set of Requests for Production of Documents were served on Defendants 23 Trubow, MMAS Research LLC, MMAS Research Italy SRL, and MMAS Research France SAS. Dkt. 102-1. Only 24 MMAS Research LLC, MMAS Research Italy SRL, and MMAS Research France SAS responded to the discovery request. Dkt. 102-2. The record does not reflect Trubow responded with the other three defendants. Id.

1 101, The Court denied the motion to compel because the parties had not satisfied the meet and 2 confer requirements. Dkt. 113.

3 On March 14, 2023, Plaintiff filed a motion to compel and for sanctions, seeking an order 4 finding all Defendants' objections had been waived and directing Defendants to provide 5 complete responses to Plaintiff's Interrogatories by a date certain. Dkt. 111. Plaintiff further 6 requested that Defendants be compelled to appear for depositions and be prepared to provide 7 complete responses on the noticed topics by a date certain. Id. On March 31, 2023, Plaintiff filed
8 a joint discovery submission, wherein Plaintiff sought an order directing Defendants to produce 9 documents responsive to Plaintiff's requests for production prior to Defendants' depositions.
10 Dkt. 120. The joint submission indicated Defendants were given an opportunity to respond in 11 accordance with Local Civil Rule 37, but Defendants provided no response. Id.

12 Based on the record, on April 27, 2023, the Court concluded Defendants did not oppose 13 the joint discovery submission; the Court granted the joint discovery submission and directed 14 Defendants to provide discovery responses. See Dkts. 123, 124. The Court further directed 15 Defendants to produce documents in response to all the requests for production and produce a 16 privilege log by May 15, 2023. Dkt. 124. The Court also found that Plaintiff had shown an order 17 compelling Defendants to attend depositions and respond to Plaintiff's interrogatories was 18 warranted. Dkt. 123. The Court concluded all Defendants' objections to Plaintiff's 19 interrogatories were waived. Id. at 7. The Court ordered Defendant Trubow to, on or before May 20 31, 2023, sit for two depositions: one on behalf of himself and one on behalf of Defendant
21 MMAS Research, LLC pursuant to Rule 30(b)(6) and Local Civil Rule 30(b). Id. On June 15, 22 2023, as a result of Defendants' failure to respond to discovery, the Court entered an order

1 directing Defendants to pay Plaintiff attorney's fees in the amount of $31,386.23 and costs in the 2 amount of $2,139.69 for a total award of $33,525.92. Dkt. 141.

3 Between July 11, 2023 and July 19, 2023, Plaintiff filed three motions for sanctions. See 4 Dkts. 154, 156, 158. In the first motion, Plaintiff sought an order holding Defendants in contempt
5 for failing to comply with the Court's discovery orders and for destroying relevant evidence.
6 Dkt. 154. Evidence submitted in support of the motions for sanctions showed that, on May 15, 7 2023, Defendants served revised responses to Plaintiff's first set of requests for production and 8 interrogatories. Dkt. 155, Bruss Dec., ¶ 14. Defendants' May 15, 2023 response to the requests 9 for production states that documents have been or will be produced. Dkt. 155-4. Plaintiff's 10 counsel argued Defendants reasserted objections that had been overruled by this Court. Dkt. 155, 11 Bruss Dec., ¶ 14. Plaintiff's counsel also argued Defendants never produced any responsive 12 documents with the revised response. Id. Plaintiff contended that, between May 16 and May 28, 13 2023, Defendants produced twenty-six documents, nearly all of which had already been 14 produced or had been or were subsequently filed as exhibits to pleadings. Id. at ¶ 16. Plaintiff's 15 counsel also asserts Defendants merely did a document dump; Defendants' production was not 16 Bates numbered and did not indicate which documents were responsive to which request for 17 production. Id. at ¶ 17; see also Dkt. 244 at 47. A review of the responses to the requests for 18 production also showed Defendants did not respond to Requests for Production 13 through 20.
19 See Dkt. 155-4 at 13-14.²

22 ² During a previous oral argument, Defendants' counsel has previously stated that she and Trubow sat 23 down and responded to each request for production and produced all the documents in his possession related to each 24 request. She did not, however, know why there were no responses to Requests for Production 13-20 and offered to re-check the responses and documents produced. See Dkt. 244 at 59-60.

1 A review of Defendants' responses to the interrogatories showed Defendants objected to 2 interrogatories numbered 12 and 13 as the documents were publicly available, interrogatory 3 number 19 as the request was overbroad and unanswerable, and interrogatory number 22 as the 4 information was in Plaintiff's possession. Defendants' response to interrogatories numbered 20 5 and 21 was that the questions were unanswerable. Dkt. 155-7.

6 It was Plaintiff's position that Defendant Trubow testified that he had a Dropbox that 7 contained documents going back to 2017, but he did not have time to go through it, so he did not 8 produce any of it. Dkt. 155, Bruss Dec., ¶ 28. Trubow also stated that all the licenses and related 9 agreements Defendants issued were maintained on a hard drive. Id. at ¶ 29. The evidence shows 10 the laptop that contained the hard drive "died" and Trubow could not afford to have it backed up.
11 Dkt. 155-8 at 36; see also Dkt. 155, Bruss Dec., ¶ 29. Plaintiff's counsel also states Trubow 12 testified that his accountant, who is also a member of MMAS Research LLC, Rodney Watkins, 13 "had a stack of banking and other financial records for Defendants approximately two feet high 14 that Defendants did not produce." Dkt. 155, Bruss Dec., ¶ 30.

15 On May 25, 2023, Trubow testified as the Rule 30(b)(6) deponent for MMAS Research.
16 See Dkt. 155-8. During the deposition, Trubow stated that he could not testify on 11 of the 14
17 Rule 30(b)(6) topics. See id. at 8-12. Trubow stated that he received documents from Attorney 18 Kenneth Gross going back to 2017 in a Dropbox, but Trubow testified the Dropbox expired and 19 he did not download the documents because it was so big. Id. at 37. Based on the record before 20 the Court at that time, the Court declined the request for case dispositive sanctions, but ordered 21 Defendants to produce specific discovery on or before December 1, 2023. Dkt. 195.

22 In the second motion for sanctions, Plaintiff requested the Court sanction Defendants and 23 their counsel for failing to honor their agreement to pay the court reporter fees incurred when 24

1 Trubow failed to appear at depositions on May 30 and 31, 2023. Dkt. 156. The Court granted-in-2 part the second motion by ordering Defendants' counsel to pay $1,320.00 to Plaintiff's counsel
3 on or before December 1, 2023 for fees related to the cancellation of the May 30 and 31, 2021
4 depositions. Dkt. 195.

5 Finally, in the third motion for sanctions, Plaintiff sought sanctions because Defendants 6 had not paid the fees and costs awarded to Plaintiff in conjunction with Plaintiff's earlier filed 7 motions to compel. Dkt. 158. The Court found, after a review of the record, that Defendants, 8 particularly Trubow, may have some financial difficulties paying the fee award. See Dkt. 195.
9 The Court also found that Defendants had been attempting to appeal the Court's order; however, 10 Defendants had not taken proper steps to appeal. Id. Defendants failed to pay the fee award or 11 seek relief from the deadline. But, because Defendants had been attempting to appeal the order, 12 the Court found only a small monetary sanction for failing to timely pay was appropriate. Id. The 13 Court granted the third motion and imposed a $1,500.00 sanction for the failure to timely pay.
14 The Court ordered Defendants to pay Plaintiff $35,025.92 ($33,525.92 plus $1,500.00) on or 15 before December 1, 2023. Id.

16 On November 21, 2023, Defendants requested the Court stay the orders directing 17 Defendants and their counsel to pay monetary sanctions until this matter has been resolved. Dkt.
18 198. On December 21, 2023, the Court denied Defendants' request to stay the obligations to pay 19 because Defendants did not produce sufficient evidence of their inability to pay. Dkt. 214. The 20 Court directed Defendants and their counsel to pay the sanctions on or before January 12, 2024.
21 Id. Plaintiff filed a notice with the Court on January 25, 2024, stating that the sanctions had not 22 been paid. Dkt. 221. Plaintiff's attorney provided evidence that Trubow stated he "would never 23 pay a dollar of sanctions, or any judgment entered against him to Dr. Morisky. [Trubow] further 24

1 gleefully noted that the only result of this process would be to drain Dr. Morisky's funds." Dkt.
2 204, Austin Dec., ¶ 7.

3 In their Response to the Renewed Motion for Sanctions, Defendants submitted the 4 Declaration of Rodney Watkins, MMAS Research's and Trubow's Certified Personal 5 Accountant from 2018 through the present. See Dkt. 241, Watkins Dec. Watkins states that he 6 reviewed financial records in his possession, but does not state what records he reviewed. Id. He 7 states that, as of May 22, 2024, MMAS Research had $2,510.00 in total assets and Trubow had 8 $5,414.44 in total assets. Id. at ¶¶ 6-7. Watkins states that, to the best of his knowledge, MMAS 9 Research nor Trubow had any credit card accounts, revolving credit loans, or securable assets.
10 Id. at ¶¶ 8-9. At this time, Defendants nor their counsel have paid the Court ordered sanctions.

11 Patricia Ray, counsel for Defendants, also provided a declaration in response to the 12 pending Motion stating she complied with all items ordered by the Court. Dkt. 239, Ray Dec., 13 ¶3. In an email to Plaintiff's counsel, Ray appeared to provide a link to the Dropbox, a list of 14 joint representation attorneys, and links to financial information. See Dkt. 239. The 15 correspondence from Ray to Plaintiff's counsel was not signed under penalty of perjury. It 16 appears Austin was not aware the Dropbox link was imbedded in the correspondence and 17 Amanda Bruss, counsel for Plaintiff, objected to the production because, among other objections, 18 it did not contain Bates numbering. See Dkt. 243, Austin Dec., ¶ 13. Attorney Kenneth Gross 19 provided Austin with access to the Dropbox link on May 24, 2024. Dkt. 240, Gross Dec., ¶ 3.

20 Evidence also indicates that Plaintiff is 78 years old and has had a sharp decline in his 21 mental and physical faculties over the last year. Dkt. 234, Austin Dec., ¶ 5. Because Defendants 22 have failed to comply with this Court's orders and has failed to pay the sanctions, Plaintiff and 23 his family have lost faith in the process and finds the Court has little to no ability to enforce its 24

1 orders. Id. at ¶ 6. Rather, it is Plaintiff’s position that the justice system favors noncompliance 2 and rewards delaying a case. Id.

3 ii. Spoliation of electronically stored evidence

4 Beyond the general discovery disputes, Plaintiff also raises an issue related to the 5 spoliation of evidence. Evidence related to this issue shows Trubow stated that all the licenses
6 and related agreements Defendants issued were maintained on a hard drive that Trubow 7 knowingly failed to preserve. Dkt. 155, Bruss Dec., ¶ 29; see also Dkt. 155-8 at 36, 39-44.

8 Defendant Trubow testified, as the Rule 30(b)(6) deponent for MMAS Research, that all 9 the license agreements in his possession were contained on a hard drive, the hard drive died, and 10 he “couldn’t afford to have it backed up.” Dkt. 155-8 at 36. Trubow stated the records for 200 11 licensee and settlement agreements were lost in April of 2022 when the computer crashed. Id.
12 Trubow testified, “I have the laptop with the dead thing still. It’s an ASUS (sic) computer.” Id.

13 Later in the deposition, counsel for Plaintiff asked if Trubow would produce the laptop.
14 Dkt. 155-8 at 39. Trubow responded, “No, I won’t.” Id. Counsel stated he would attempt to have 15 the Court compel production and Trubow said, “Go ahead. Good luck.” Id. Then, Trubow stated 16 the laptop was in three or four different pieces and part of it is at another house and so no longer 17 in his possession. Id. After more dialogue about the location of the hard drive, Trubow stated it 18 was in the dump. Id.

19 In a later-filed declaration, Trubow stated that he used an ASIS laptop from 2017 until 20 2022 to train clinicians all over the world on how to use the Morisky Widget software. Dkt. 167, 21 Trubow Dec., ¶ 4. In early 2022, the ASIS laptop fell out of Trubow’s knapsack, shattering the 22 screen and popping out the keyboard; he was unable to reboot the laptop. Id. at ¶ 5. Trubow 23 replaced the laptop and was unable to recover the hard drive from the ASIS laptop. Id. He placed 24

1 the ASIS laptop in a box in his detached garage and, when he was moving residences, the 2 movers disposed of several boxes, including the box that contained the ASIS laptop. Id. Trubow 3 states “[t]here were never any business records, financial records, bank statement stored on the 4 ASIS laptop.” Id. at ¶ 9. He further asserts that he attempted to say that he did not have any 5 financial documents during his deposition, but was cut off from finishing his answer. Id. at ¶ 17.
6 Trubow testified that,

7 The ASIS nor any other laptop or computer in my possession never had any 8 financial information and records regarding profit, losses, costs dealing with all the 9 (Morisky Widget) license agreements and the revenue that was generated from each 10 license agreement.

11 ... [T]he financial and legal details of CR2A retroactive Morisky Widget licensing, 12 the settlement of CR2A claims, and the collection of money and payouts to MMAS 13 Research LLC and Plaintiff were handled exclusively by the joint representation 14 lawyers and [Trubow] did not retain documentation relating to them.

15 Id. at ¶¶ 18-19.

16 Trubow contends that “[a] large majority of the 212 Morksiy Widget license agreements 17 in the CR2A were signed and executed by Plaintiff himself.” Dkt. 254, Trubow Dec., ¶ 6.
18 Trubow’s citation to the CR2A provides a list of license agreements, but does not show Plaintiff 19 has the agreements or signed the agreements. See Dkt. 253-10. Evidence indicates Plaintiff has 20 not been able to recover the licensee and settlement agreements from other sources. See Dkt.
21 243, Austin Dec. For example, Plaintiff’s counsel contacted two attorneys regarding agreements 22 they negotiated on behalf of Defendants. Id. at ¶ 11. One attorney, Hoeller, has not produced any 23 files. Id.

24 B. Failure to Comply with Court Orders

 First, Plaintiff asserts additional sanctions are warranted based on Defendants’ failure to comply with Court orders. Dkt. 233.

1 As detailed above, on June 15, 2023, as a result of Defendants' failure to respond to 2 discovery, the Court awarded costs and fees to Plaintiff in the amount of $33,525.92 and directed 3 Defendants to pay Plaintiff within 30 days of the date of the order, or by July 15, 2023. Dkt. 141.
4 The Court also ordered Defendants' counsel to pay $1,320.00 to Plaintiff's counsel on or before 5 December 1, 2023 for fees related to the cancellation of the May 30 and 31, 2022 depositions.
6 Dkt. 195. The Court has directed Defendants and their counsel to pay the sanctions on at least 7 three occasions. Dkts. 141, 195, 214. The Court even imposed an additional $1,500.00 sanction
8 for Defendants' failure to comply with the Court's orders, which they have not paid. Dkt. 195.

9 It has been more than a year since Defendants were first ordered to pay the sanctions. The 10 Court has, on several occasions, directed Defendants to pay the sanctions and has even increased 11 the monetary amount based on Defendants' lack of compliance with the Court's Order. The 12 record reflects Defendants and their counsel do not intend to comply with this Court's orders 13 directing payment of sanctions.

14 Additionally, Defendants have consistently failed to comply with this Court's Local Civil 15 Rules ("LCR"). Beginning in June of 2023, the Court notified Defendants that their filings did 16 not comply with the LCRs. See Dkt. 137. The Court ordered the parties to comply with the 17 LCRs. Id. The Court has also made note that many filings are not in compliance with the Court's 18 pro hac vice rules. Dkt. 226. In addition to the LCR violations, the Court has been required to 19 warn Defendants and strike filings that improperly contained attorney-client communications.
20 See Dkt. 113, 146.

21 Defendants have continued to file documents that violate the LCRs and the Court has 22 struck the filings. See Dkts. 140, 151, 184, 226. And, even after the Court's multiple warnings, 23 the Response (Dkt. 238) to the Renewed Motion for Sanctions still violates the LCRs. The 24

1 Response exceeds the page limitations detailed in LCR 7 and fails to include the word count.
2 Dkt. 238. It appears the Response exceeds the word count allowed under LCR 7. Defendants 3 have also filed additional documents that contain attorney-client communications. See Dkt. 238
4 (with attachments). Despite multiple warnings and the Court striking filings, Defendants'
5 counsel do not appear to take this Court's orders seriously and have not ensured their filings 6 comply the LCRs and this Court's orders.

7 The Court finds Defendants' and their counsels' failure to comply with Court orders and 8 the LCRs is concerning and weighs in favor of sanctions.

9 C. Discovery Violations

10 Next, Plaintiff states case dispositive sanctions are warranted based on Defendants' 11 discovery violations. Dkt. 233. In the Response to the Court's Order directing Plaintiff to provide 12 more detailed information about what discovery has not been produced, Plaintiff states 13 Defendants have failed to produce: (1) a Rule 30(b)(6) witness ; (2) documents evidencing
14 Defendants' damages; (3) an unredacted copy of the Code Copyright Deposit; (4) 199 of 212
15 license and settlement agreements; (5) agreements in which Plaintiff was wrongfully excluded; 16 (6) all documents regarding Defendants' legal actions; and (7) all relevant financial records and 17 bank statements. Dkt. 247 (ordered in list of Court's discussion below, not as identified by 18 Plaintiff).

19 First, Plaintiff states Defendants have not provided a Rule 30(b)(6) witness. Dkt. 247.
20 Defendants appear to respond to this by simply saying that they do not have additional 21 information to provide under the deposition request and Plaintiff could obtain the information 22 from a third-party subpoena. Dkt. 253 at 5.

1 The language of Rule 30 requires the person designated as the Rule 30(b)(6) witness to 2 testify as to matters known or reasonably available to the organization. The party seeking 3 discovery through a Rule 30(b)(6) deposition is required to describe “with reasonable 4 particularity the matters on which examination is requested.” Great Am. Ins. Co. of New York v.
5 Vegas Const. Co., 251 F.R.D. 534, 538 (D. Nev. 2008) (“Great American”). Once served with 6 the deposition notice under Rule 30(b)(6), the responding party is required to produce one or 7 more witnesses knowledgeable about the subject matter of the noticed topics. Id. The duty to 8 produce a prepared witness on designated topics extends to matters not only within the personal 9 knowledge of the witness but on matters reasonably known by the responding party. Alexander v.
10 Federal Bureau of Investigation, 186 F.R.D. 137, 141 (D.D.C. 1998).

11 A corporation has a duty under Rule 30(b)(6) to provide a witness who is knowledgeable 12 in order to provide “binding answers on behalf of the corporation”. Starlight International, Inc.
13 v. Herlihy, 186 F.R.D. 626, 638 (D.Kan. 1999). Moreover, a corporation has “a duty to make a 14 conscientious, good-faith effort to designate knowledgeable persons for Rule 30(b)(6) 15 depositions and to prepare them to fully and unequivocally answer questions about the designated 16 subject matter.” Starlight, 186 F.R.D. at 639. By its very nature, a Rule 30(b)(6) deposition 17 notice requires the responding party to prepare a designated representative so that he or she can 18 testify on matters not only within his or her personal knowledge, but also on matters reasonably 19 known by the responding entity.” Great American, 251 F.R.D. at 539.

20 Rule 37(d)(1) specifically authorizes a court to issue sanctions when a party or its 21 representative, or a person designated under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a)(4), fails to appear for that 22 person’s deposition. Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(d)(1)(A)(i). Several courts “have held that a party’s 23 failure to produce a Rule 30(b)(6) designee who is adequately educated and prepared to testify 24

1 regarding the enumerated topics amounts to a nonappearance sufficient to warrant the imposition
2 of sanctions.” Zeitlin v. Bank of Am., N.A., 2021 WL 5236939, at *7 (D. Nev. Oct. 21, 2021) 3 (gathering cases).

4 On May 25, 2023, Trubow testified as the Rule 30(b)(6) deponent for MMAS Research.
5 See Dkt. 155-8. During the deposition, Trubow stated that he could not testify on 11 of the 14
6 Rule 30(b)(6) noticed topics. See id. at 8-12.³ Now, rather than having arranged to produce a 7 Rule 30(b)(6) designee who is adequately educated and prepared to testify regarding the noticed 8 topics, Defendants state that Plaintiff can obtain the information from third-party subpoenas.
9 Dkt. 253. The obligation is on Defendants to produce a witness(es) that can knowledgeably 10 respond to the noticed topics. As Defendants have refused to designate a knowledgeable witness, 11 the Court finds Defendants’ conduct has amounted to a nonappearance sufficient to warrant 12 sanctions. See Elan Microelectronics Corp. v. Pixcir Microelectronics Co. Ltd., 2013 WL 13 4101811, * 9 (August 13, 2013) (precluding evidence from trial or motion practice where the 14 Rule 30(b)(6) designee was not prepared to address and provide meaningful answers binding the 15 defendant to details concerning revenues, sales, costs, profits, and expenses).

16 Second, Plaintiff contends that Defendants have failed to produce any documents
17 evidencing Defendants’ damages. Dkt. 247 at 7. In their Second Amended Counterclaims 18 (“SAC”), Defendants seek declaratory judgment that Trubow is the owner of the Morisky 19 Widget and that Trubow and MMAS Research are entitled to two years of uninterrupted and 20

21 ³ In response to the Renewed Motion for Sanctions, Defendants state Trubow’s deposition was continued to 22 June of 2023 and that deposition included testimony as a Rule 30(b)(6) witness. Dkt. 238 at 7. Defendants have not 23 provided a copy of the deposition transcript and have not provided any evidence that refutes Plaintiff’s evidence that 24 Trubow was unable to testify regarding nearly all of the noticed topics. Therefore, the Court is not persuaded by Defendants’ conclusory argument that Defendants have presented a knowledgeable Rule 30(b)(6) witness.

1 unopposed performance of the CR2A. Dkt. 94. Defendants also seek monetary damages for 2 breach of the CR2A, tortious interference with business expectancy, tortious and malicious abuse 3 of process, copyright infringement, unfair business practices, and breach of implied covenant of 4 good faith and fair dealing. Id. Defendants do not provide a specific response to Plaintiff's 5 assertion that Defendants failed to provide documentation related to their damages. Dkt. 253.

6 Rule 26(a)(1)(A) requires a party to make certain initial disclosures "without awaiting a 7 discovery request." Pursuant to subsection 26(a)(1)(A)(iii), a party must provide "a computation 8 of each category of damages claimed" and must "make available for inspection and copying as 9 under Rule 34 the documents or other evidentiary material, unless privileged or protected from 10 disclosure, on which each computation is based[.]" The record before the Court indicates that 11 Defendants have not produced evidence related to damages as required by Rule 26(a). Further, 12 Plaintiff requested evidence for all damages claimed in the SAC. Dkt. 247-3 at 14. The Court 13 ordered Defendants to produce this information. Dkt. 124 at 5. Defendants' response to the 14 request for production merely referenced the SAC (Dkt. 94) and a spreadsheet that identified 15 license agreements where Defendants allegedly suffered damages. Dkt. 247-2 at 14-15; see also 16 Dkt. 247-4. The spreadsheet appears to be a list of agreements on one page and a second page 17 that contains four columns (economic loss, mental anguish, discomfort, and inconvenience) and 18 approximately 35 dollar amounts listed under each column. Dkt. 247-4 at 3. The spreadsheet 19 does not provide documentation to support the alleged damages or support each computation.
20 Further, it does not sufficiently connect the alleged damages to any agreement.

21 A party is required to disclose a computation of damages under the Federal Rules of Civil 22 Procedure and a failure to do so prevents the use of the damage computations at trial. Hoffman v.
23 Constr. Protective Servs., Inc., 541 F.3d 1175, 1179-80 (9th Cir. 2008) (Failure to disclose 24

1 damage calculations in wage and hour claim required forbidding use at trial even if doing so 2 precluded the plaintiff's entire cause of action.). "Evidence of damage is sufficient if it affords a 3 reasonable basis for estimating loss and does not subject the trier of fact to mere speculation or 4 conjecture...." Clayton v. Wilson, 168 Wash.2d 57, 227 P.3d 278, 285 (2010) (en banc) (citation 5 omitted). Here, the evidence of damages Defendants produced fails to meet the requirements of 6 the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and appears to be based on mere speculation and 7 conjecture. Accordingly, sanctions are warranted for Defendants' failure to produce sufficient 8 discovery related to their alleged damages.

9 Third, Plaintiff states Defendants have not produced an unredacted copy of the Code 10 Copyright Deposit. Dkt. 247 at 6. In his declaration, Trubow states that Plaintiff was given 11 access to "detailed Morisky Widget licensing information as early as January 4, 2021, though his 12 counsel Kenneth Gross." Dkt. 254, Trubow Dec., ¶¶ 7-9. This does not show Defendants 13 provided an unredacted copy of the copyright deposit. Further, the email that Trubow relies on to 14 show Plaintiff received an unredacted copy of the Code Copyright Deposit is insufficient.
15 Rather, the email shows that Dustin Machi sent an email to Kenneth Gross stating he was 16 attaching a dump of the current database and a copy of the source code. Dkt. 253-8. The email at 17 issue, dated January 4, 2021, was sent after the CR2A. In the email, Machi states Trubow or 18 Gross can provide the materials to "the Moriskys" when Trubow and Plaintiff reach a settlement.
19 Id. at 2. There is no indication Gross or Trubow ever provided this information to Plaintiff, that 20 Plaintiff knew Gross had the information, or that Plaintiff was in a position to obtain the 21 information from Gross. Rather, the email appears to show that Gross would not provide the 22 "source code" to Plaintiff until after a settlement had been reached.

1 Additionally, on April 27, 2023, this Court ordered Defendants to produce the entire 2 source code as it existed between December 6, 2020 to the present. Dkt. 124. Defendants’ 3 response that Plaintiff had a copy of the source code in January 2021 indicates Defendants failed 4 to comply with this Court’s April 2023 Order.

5 For these reasons, the evidence fails to show Defendants have provided an unredacted 6 copy of the Code Copyright Deposit or the source code. Without providing the required
7 discovery related to the copyright deposit and source code, Defendants should not be permitted 8 to pursue copyright infringement claims and defenses.

9 Fourth, Plaintiff states Defendants have not provided license and settlement agreements.
10 Dkt. 247 at 3. In response, Defendants do not assert they have provided the documents; rather, 11 Trubow contends that “[a] large majority of the 212 Morisky Widget license agreements in the 12 CR2A were signed and executed by Plaintiff himself.” Dkt. 254, Trubow Dec., ¶ 6. Trubow’s 13 citation to the CR2A provides a list of agreements, but does not show Plaintiff has all the 14 agreements. See Dkt. 253-10. Further, “the fact that the documents may be available elsewhere 15 does not relieve parties of their duty to produce documents within their possession, custody, or 16 control.” TIW Holdings LLC v. Evo Brands LLC, 2024 WL 2107379, at *8 (C.D. Cal. May 6, 17 2024). Therefore, simply because Trubow asserts that Plaintiff signed and executed a “large 18 majority” of the agreements does not absolve Defendants from producing the agreements.

19 Finally, Plaintiff contends Defendants have not provided all bank statements and 20 financial records, agreements in which Plaintiff was wrongfully excluded, and all documents 21 regarding Defendants’ legal actions. Dkt. 247. Defendants assert that they have produced all 22 financial records and agreements that excluded Plaintiff after the execution of the CR2A, and 23 Defendants state they do not have documents of all legal actions within their possession and 24

1 control. Dkt. 253. Defendants contend Plaintiff should subpoena joint counsel records to obtain 2 documents related to legal actions. Dkt. 253 at 5.

3 Based on the record, it is difficult to discern if Defendants have actually produced all the 4 documents that are in their possession or control. For example, there is some evidence 5 Defendants have not produced a two-foot-high stack of banking documents and other financial 6 records. See Dkt. 155, Bruss Dec., ¶ 30 (the Court recognizes Trubow testified as to these 7 documents prior to the December 2023 deadline to produce). There is also evidence Defendants 8 never produced Umpqua and Bank of America records. See Dkt. 248 Austin Dec, ¶ 17 (as of 9 May 15, 2024, Plaintiff's counsel states Defendants never produced records). Defendants 10 summarily state that they did produce records from Chase records from 2017-2019 and 2021 and 11 from Umpqua. See Dkt. 253 at 5. Defendants do not appear to assert Bank of America records 12 were produced. The record does not indicate Defendants have produced all required banking and 13 financial documents.

14 Moreover, Defendants appear to refuse to produce discovery that is not in Trubow's 15 actual possession. See Dkt. 254, Trubow Dec., ¶ 4. Trubow provides no information explaining 16 what documents cannot be produced because they are not in his possession nor does he provide 17 information about who has possession of the documents. See id. Further, actual possession, 18 custody or control is not required. "A party may be ordered to produce a document in the 19 possession of a non-party entity if that party has a legal right to obtain the document or has 20 control over the entity who is in possession of the document." Soto v. City of Concord, 162
21 F.R.D. 603, 620 (N.D.Cal. 1995); Axler v. Scientific Ecology Group, Inc., 196 F.R.D. 210, 212 22 (D.Mass. 2000) (A "party must produce otherwise discoverable documents that are in his 23 attorneys' possession, custody or control."). "A party has control if the party to whom the request 24

1 is made has a legal right to obtain the documents, even though he has no copy.” Physical 2 Excellence, Inc. v. Dow, 2005 WL 8161146, at *2 (D. Ariz. Aug. 11, 2005).

3 The Court has ordered Defendants to produce all documents related to legal actions
4 involving any of the MMAS parties, all documents related to the Morisky Widget and MMAS, 5 including pre-settlements and agreements, from July 2020 through “the present,” and all 6 financial documents. Dkt. 124. The Court’s Order did not limit this production to only 7 documents that were in Trubow’s possession. For example, Watkins, a member of MMAS 8 Research, has financial documents in his possession. See Dkt. 241, Watkins Dec.; see also Dkt.
9 155, Bruss Dec., ¶ 30. Defendants have not shown that MMAS Research, as a defendant, would 10 not have an obligation to produce documents that are in the possession, custody, or control of a 11 member. Therefore, simply because Trubow does not have physical possession of a document 12 does not excuse Defendants from their duty and responsibility to produce documents that may be 13 in the possession of an entity or person under any of the Defendants’ control.

14 Trubow states “Defendants are justified in not providing superfluous discovery responses 15 of documents, and information that are within Plaintiff knowledge and/or was a party to the 16 agreement and had access through his lawyers or other third parties.” Dkt. 254, Trubow Dec. ¶ 17 30 (grammatical structure and errors in original). Trubow continues by stating, “These matters 18 have been equally accessible by Plaintiff. Defendants should not be sanctioned for not providing 19 discovery on what Plaintiff has had equal access.” Id. Trubow’s position is misplaced. First, as 20 stated above, just because “documents may be available elsewhere does not relieve parties of 21 their duty to produce documents within their possession, custody, or control.” TIW Holdings 22 LLC, 2024 WL 2107379 at *8. Second, Defendants could have objected to discovery requests.
23 However, they did not and this Court ordered Defendants to produce all discovery regardless of 24

1 whether the requests were duplicative or difficult for Defendants to produce. Defendants' 2 responses to discovery requests that state the documents are in Plaintiff's possession, are in joint 3 counsel's possession, or in the possession of Defendants' former lawyers does not meet the 4 discovery requirements in this case. See Dkt. 247-3. Defendants should, in fact, be sanctioned for 5 failing to meaningfully engage in the discovery process and for failing to comply with Court 6 orders directing Defendants to produce documents.

7 For the above stated reasons, the Court finds Plaintiff has shown Defendants failed to 8 produce a Rule 30(b)(6) witness and failed to produce discovery in violation of the Federal Civil 9 Rules of Procedure and this Court's Orders. Therefore, Defendants' conduct warrants sanctions.

10 D. Electronically Stored Information

11 Finally, Plaintiff asserts Defendant Trubow's destruction of Electronically Stored 12 Information ("ESI") supports case dispositive sanctions. Dkt. 233. Plaintiff alleges Defendant 13 Trubow destroyed a laptop that contained evidence relevant to this case after this case was 14 initiated. Dkts. 154, 233. On October 31, 2023, the Court determined Plaintiff had not shown the 15 information on the laptop could not be obtained through discovery from other sources and the 16 record, at that time, did not warrant finding Trubow intended to deprive Plaintiff of the use of the 17 information on the laptop. Dkt. 195. Plaintiff asserts he has not been able to obtain the 18 information through other sources and Plaintiff has now produced additional arguments related 19 to Trubow's motivations in destroying the ESI. See Dkt. 233. Therefore, the Court will evaluate 20 whether sanctions related to the destruction of ESI is now warranted.

21 Rule 37(e) is the exclusive remedy for spoliation of ESI. Fast v. GoDaddy.com LLC, 340
22 F.R.D. 326, 335 (D. Ariz. 2022). Rule 37(e) states,

1 Failure to Preserve Electronically Stored Information. If electronically stored 2 information that should have been preserved in the anticipation or conduct of litigation is lost because a party ailed to take reasonable steps to preserve it, and it cannot be restored or replaced through additional discovery, the court:

3 (1) upon finding prejudice to another party from loss of the information, may 4 order measures no greater than necessary to cure the prejudice; or 5 (2) only upon finding that the party acted with the intent to deprive another party of the information's use in the litigation may:

6 (A) presume that the lost information was unfavorable to the party; 7 (B) instruct the jury that it may or must presume the information was unfavorable to the party; or 8 (C) dismiss the action or enter a default judgment.

9 Courts in this circuit have indicated the moving party must establish spoliation by a 10 preponderance of the evidence. CrossFit, Inc. v. Nat'l Strength & Conditioning Ass'n, 2019 WL 11 6527951, at *28 (S.D. Cal. Dec. 4, 2019) ((following Ninth Circuit precedent permitting intent 12 under Rule 37(e)(2) by preponderance of the evidence, not clear and convincing evidence) 13 (citing OmniGen Research v. Yongqiang Wang, 321 F.R.D. 367, 372 (D. Or. May 23, 2017) 14 (“[t]he applicable standard of proof for spoliation motions in the Ninth Circuit is the 15 preponderance of evidence”); WeRide Corp. v. Kun Huang, 2020 WL 1967209, at *9 (N.D. Cal.
 16 Apr. 16, 2020). Further, a court “may make factual findings and assess the credibility of 17 witnesses.” WeRide Corp., 2020 WL 1967209, at *9.

18 After review of the record as a whole, the Court finds sanctions under 37(e) are now 19 warranted based on the destruction of Trubow's ASIS laptop. Trubow provided conflicting 20 testimony. During Trubow's May 2023 deposition, he testified that he kept the 200+ licensee and 21 settlement agreements on an ASIS laptop. Dkt. 155-8 at 34-36. As the deposition continued and 22 in a later-filed declaration, Trubow changed his position and stated there was no relevant 23 information on the laptop. See Dkt. 167, Trubow Dec., ¶¶ 8-9 (stating there was some licensing 24

1 information, only five or six post CR2A documents, and no business records, financial records, 2 or bank statements on the ASIS). Trubow's initial response regarding the location of the licensee
3 and settlement agreements is the most credible and the Court no longer finds Trubow's claims 4 that there was limited or no relevant information on the laptop credible. Therefore, Plaintiff has 5 shown the laptop contained ESI that should have been preserved in the anticipation or conduct of 6 litigation.

7 Further, the laptop was destroyed in April of 2022. This lawsuit was initiated in 8 September of 2021 and the parties had entered into the CR2A in December of 2020. Therefore, 9 at the time the laptop was destroyed, Trubow knew about this lawsuit and knew that the 10 information on the laptop was relevant to this case and would be discoverable. Additionally, 11 Trubow provided inconsistent testimony about the whereabouts of the laptop. Initially, he 12 testified the laptop was in his possession, but no longer functional. Dkt. 155-8 at 36 ("I have the 13 laptop with the dead thing still"). Plaintiff's counsel asked if Trubow would produce the laptop 14 and Trubow stated "no." Id. at 39. Plaintiff's counsel stated they would move forward with a 15 court order to compel production and Trubow said, "Go ahead. Good luck." Id. Counsel then 16 asked Trubow why he would not produce it and Trubow stated the laptop was in several pieces 17 and no longer in his possession. Id. The Court finds Trubow's testimony that he did not 18 knowingly fail to preserve the ESI after the initiation of this lawsuit not credible. Therefore, the 19 record shows the ESI on the laptop was lost because Trubow failed to take reasonable steps to 20 preserve it.

21 In October 2023, the Court found Plaintiff failed to show the information on the laptop 22 could not be restored or replaced through additional discovery. Dkt. 195. However, now, 23 Plaintiff has attempted, but been unable, to recover the contents of the laptop through additional 24

1 discovery. Without information contained on the laptop, Plaintiff cannot prove his case or the 2 damages related to the alleged unauthorized use of the Morisky Widget, MMAS-4, and/or 3 MMAS-8. Plaintiff is, therefore, prejudiced by Trubow's destruction of the ESI. Accordingly, 4 pursuant to Rule 37(e), the Court finds it appropriate to cure the prejudice caused by the 5 destruction of the evidence.

6 Previously, the Court found there was insufficient evidence to support a finding that 7 Trubow intended to deprive Plaintiff of the information on the laptop. Dkt. 195. However, the 8 Court has reassessed the evidence in this case and finds sanctions under Rule 37(e)(2) are 9 appropriate. As discussed above, the evidence shows Trubow has inconsistently reported about 10 the contents of the laptop and the location of the laptop. Based on his deposition, Trubow 11 initially conceded 200 licensee and settlement agreements were located on his laptop. Dkt. 155-8 12 at 36. He said he still had the laptop in his possession, but it had died more than a year after the 13 CR2A was signed and months after this lawsuit was initiated. After being told Plaintiff's counsel 14 would ask the Court to compel production, Trubow's testimony shifted and he testified that the 15 hard drive was in several pieces and in a dump in California. Id. at 40. After his deposition and 16 after a motion for sanctions was filed, Trubow stated there was limited information related to this 17 case on the laptop. Because Trubow's initial testimony was that he possessed the laptop and it 18 contained relevant information, the Court finds this testimony to be the most credible. Plaintiff 19 has shown, at least by a preponderance of the evidence, that Trubow intended to deprive Plaintiff 20 of the contents of the hard drive.⁴

22
23 ⁴While Defendants assert that Plaintiff had access to these agreements through other means and signed 24 some of the destroyed agreements, Defendants have not provided evidence to support this assertion.

1 The Court, therefore, recommends sanctions under Rule 37(e)(2) be imposed against 2 Defendants. Specifically, the Court recommends the destroyed license agreements be presumed 3 to be unfavorable to Defendants and an adverse jury instruction be provided to the jury that the 4 destroyed agreements were unfavorable to Defendants.

5 E. Sanctions

6 “Federal Rule of Civil Procedure (Rule) 37 authorizes the district court, in its discretion, 7 to impose a wide range of sanctions when a party fails to comply with the rules of discovery or 8 with court orders enforcing those rules.” Wyle v. R.J. Reynolds Indus., Inc., 709 F.2d 585, 589
9 (9th Cir. 1983). Under Rule 37(b), a court may strike pleadings in whole or in part or enter 10 default judgment where a party “fails to obey an order to provide or permit discovery, including 11 an order under Rule 26(f), 35, or 37(a)[.]” Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(b)(2)(A). Before imposing 12 terminating sanctions, the court must weigh the following factors: “(1) the public’s interest in 13 expeditious resolution of litigation; (2) the court’s need to manage its docket; (3) the risk of 14 prejudice to the party seeking sanctions; (4) the public policy favoring disposition of cases on 15 their merits; and (5) the availability of less drastic sanctions.” Leon, 464 F.3d at 958 (quoting 16 Anheuser-Busch, Inc. v. Natural Beverage Dist., 69 F.3d 337, 348 (9th Cir. 1995)). Courts
17 should not apply these factors mechanically; the factors supply a framework to guide the Court’s 18 decision. Conn. Gen. Life Ins. Co. v. New Images of Beverly Hills, 482 F.3d 1091, 1096 (9th Cir.
19 2007).

20 Although the Court is not required to make explicit findings as to each factor, a finding of 21 “willfulness, fault, or bad faith” is required for dismissal to be proper. Leon, 464 F.3d at 958.
22 “Due process concerns further require that there exist a relationship between the sanctioned

1 party's misconduct and the matters in controversy such that the transgression 'threaten[s] to 2 interfere with the rightful decision of the case.'" Anheuser-Busch, 69 F.3d at 348.

3 Considering the five factors, the Court finds that only Factor 4 -- the public policy 4 favoring disposition of cases on their merits -- does not weigh in favor of dispositive sanctions.

5 Factor 1, the public's interest in expeditious resolution of litigation, warrants dispositive 6 sanctions. This case has been pending since September 24, 2021, approximately three years. See 7 Dkt. 1. This case is not complex and yet, at this time, the parties have still not finished discovery, 8 have not completed dispositive motions, and there is no trial date set. As Defendants have taken 9 the position that they have sufficiently complied with this Court's orders and the discovery
10 requests, the Court finds reopening the discovery period will be fruitless and will further delay 11 this case. Defendants' refusal to meaningfully engage in discovery and comply completely with 12 Court orders has and will continue to impede the expeditious resolution of this case. Therefore, 13 Factor 1 weighs in favor of case dispositive sanctions.

14 Factor 2, the court's need to manage its docket, weighs in favor of case dispositive 15 sanctions. As stated above, this case has been pending for approximately three years. The Court 16 has been unable to set a trial date based on the discovery disputes. Further, the amount of 17 motions practice in this case has been voluminous. The Court has been required to address 18 multiple motions to compel, motions for sanctions, and additional discovery disputes. At the 19 request of the parties, the Court has addressed emergency discovery disputes by phone, has held 20 lengthy hearings (wherein Defendants had technical difficulties), and has issued multiple orders 21 and report and recommendations. Despite the Court's heavy involvement in this case, the 22 necessary discovery has not been produced and Defendants' conduct indicates this case will not 23 resolve without Court intervention. The record reflects case dispositive sanctions are necessary 24

1 to allow the Court to manage its docket. Therefore, Factor 2 weighs in favor of case dispositive 2 sanctions.

3 Plaintiff has shown Factor 3, the risk of prejudice to Plaintiff, warrants case dispositive 4 sanctions. Despite this Court's attempts to compel Defendants to produce all documents owed to 5 Plaintiff and to compel a Rule 30(b)(6) witness, Defendants have not produced discovery or a 6 knowledgeable Rule 30(b)(6) witness. Defendants have refused to produce discovery they 7 believe is superfluous or available from another source. Plaintiff has lost faith in the Court
8 system, is aging, and cannot endure an additional discovery period. This case has been delayed 9 and, based on Defendants' conduct, will continue to be delayed without production of the 10 discovery owed to Plaintiff. The delays and litigation over discovery disputes has cost Plaintiff 11 thousands of dollars and has yet to result in production of all the necessary discovery. Along 12 with the delays, Defendants have not been responsive to discovery requests that Plaintiff believes 13 are necessary to prove his case. Therefore, the Court finds Factor 3 weighs in favor of case 14 dispositive sanctions.

15 Plaintiff has shown Factor 5, the availability of less drastic sanctions, weighs in 16 Plaintiff's favor. Based on the record, this Court has imposed monetary sanctions and has warned 17 Defendants regarding failures to comply with Court orders and failures to produce discovery. For 18 example, it has been more than a year since the Court ordered Defendants to pay a monetary 19 sanction for discovery violations. Defendants have not paid and have not provided adequate 20 evidence that excuses the lack of payment. Trubow has also made statements that he will not 21 pay. Moreover, Defendants' counsel has refused to pay a minor monetary sanction. And, 22 Defendants' counsel has repeatedly failed to comply with this Court's Orders and the LCRs.
23 Last, the Court has already ordered Defendants to produce additional discovery and Defendants 24

1 have failed to comply. For illustration, Defendants failed to produce documents despite orders to 2 do so and failed to produce a Rule 30(b)(6) witness after this Court directed Trubow to sit for the 3 deposition. The Court has spent over a year ordering Defendants to properly engage in the 4 discovery process. The Court finds less drastic sanctions are no longer available. Therefore, 5 Factor 5 weighs in favor of case dispositive sanctions.

6 Finally, the record reflects the necessary “willfulness, fault, or bad faith,” which would 7 make dismissal proper. See Leon, 464 F.3d at 958. The Court finds Defendants have failed to 8 conscientiously respond to discovery. Defendants and their counsel have knowingly refused to 9 meaningfully engage in the discovery process. For example, Defendants did not properly prepare 10 a Rule 30(b)(6) witness. Trubow knowingly failed to preserve ESI. Defendants have refused to 11 provide discovery when Trubow feels the discovery requests are superfluous or when Trubow 12 does not have physical possession of a document, regardless of this Court’s orders to produce the 13 discovery. Defense counsel previously stated that the Court-imposed sanctions were effective in 14 ensuring Defendants complied with the discovery requests. However, from the record before the 15 Court, the Court-imposed sanctions have had little or no impact on Defendants’ conduct. Rather, 16 evidence shows Trubow “would never pay a dollar of sanctions, or any judgment entered against 17 him to Dr. Morisky.” Dkt. 204, Austin Dec., ¶ 7. He said “the only result of this process would 18 be to drain Dr. Morisky’s funds.” Id. Finally, both Defendants and their counsel have willfully 19 refused to pay the monetary sanctions. Accordingly, the Court finds case dispositive sanctions 20 should be issued.

21 In summation, based on the record before the Court, case dispositive sanctions are 22 warranted because Defendants have repeatedly failed to comply with Court orders and the LCRs, 23 Defendants have repeatedly failed to produce the required discovery, including a Rule 30(b)(6) 24

witness, and Defendants intentionally deprived Plaintiff of ESI. Therefore, the Court recommends the following sanctions:

1. Defendants' counterclaims be dismissed with prejudice and Defendants be limited in the defenses presented at trial;
2. Under Rule 37(e)(2), the destroyed ESI (the license and settlement agreements) be presumed to be unfavorable to Defendants and an adverse jury instruction be provided to the jury that the destroyed agreements were unfavorable to Defendants;
3. This case proceed immediately to trial with no additional discovery or dispositive motions practice; and
4. At trial, adverse jury instructions be provided so that any lack of proof should be inferred favorably to Plaintiff based on Defendants' failure to produce discovery.

IV. Conclusion

For the above stated reasons, the Court recommends Plaintiff's Renewed Motion for Sanctions (Dkt. 233) be granted-in-part. In addition to the sanctions detailed above, the Court also recommends Defendants be ordered to pay Plaintiff's costs and fees for bringing the Renewed Motion for Sanctions. As the Court recommends this case proceed immediately to trial, the Court recommends the referral to the undersigned be terminated.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1) and Fed. R. Civ. P. 72(b), the parties shall have fourteen (14) days from service of this report to file written objections. See also Fed. R. Civ. P. 6. Failure to file objections will result in a waiver of those objections for purposes of de novo review by the district judge, see 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(C), and can result in a waiver of those objections for purposes of appeal. *See Thomas v.
